QR Codes In This Catalogue

Get product information faster and more precise

QR codes ("quick response") are two-dimensional bar codes which enable quick access to the internet via a camera of a smartphone or tablet. A QR code reader installed on the device is required but you can get one on the internet for free.

Benefits of QR codes

As the name suggests the QR code directs the user straight to the product page in the Oehme Lorito download centre. There you can access and download all information on a certain product quickly and easily. On the particular product page you can find all available safety and product data sheets and a picture as well as characteristics and operating instructions.

Use of QR codes in this catalogue

A | If this has not yet been done, install a QR code reader on your smartphone or tablet. You can find app recommendations with shortlinks to download them in the infobox beneath.

QR code reader for Apple iOS:

„Scan“ for Phone, iPad, iPod touch

„QR Reader for iPhone“ - free

„QR Reader for iPad“ - free

for Android:

„Barcode Scanner“ - free

<http://oehme-lorito.de/qr-android>

B | Scan the QR code next to the desired product in the catalogue with the app. You are then directed to the product page in the Oehme Lorito download centre. There you can directly access and download safety and product data sheets.

C | In case of problems concerning the use of QR codes you can also open the Oehme Lorito download centre in the browser of your mobile phone or computer manually:

1. Go to <http://www.oehme-lorito.de>.
2. There is a search window on the welcome page where you need to Type in the name of the product, the number or the webcode (e.g. #2d2d)
3. Click / tap on "search"
4. Open the product page by clicking / tapping on the product name or picture.

Four-Colour-System

Mix-up impossible – one colour for each application

The well-established Four-Colour-System ensures hygiene while cleaning surfaces above the ground. The colour system allows an easy optical separation of cleaning equipment like cloths, sponges, buckets or cleaning agents. An consequent application of this colour system not only optimises hygiene, but also simplifies the cleaning management.

The system consists of four basic colours: red, yellow, blue and green, whereat each colour represents an specific application area. Thus it avoids the usage of a cloth, that has been used for the toilet before, for cleaning the desk and therefore transmitting germs to furnishings.

The following colour codes are well-established in practice:

Sanitary areas (toilet, urinal)

for sanitary areas with high bacterial contamination like toilets, urinals, bidets and its splash zones. Hygiene has the highest priority in these areas.

Sanitary areas (other areas)

for the general sanitary areas, which have a lower bacterial contamination, like sinks, mirrors, bathtubs, taps. To avoid bacterial dissemination to other, non-sanitary areas.

General cleaning

for the general cleaning of surfaces like furnishings, doors, lamps and windows in the office or lobby.

Kitchen/special assignment

for areas that encounter food like kitchens, cafeterias and recreation rooms. Also suitable for special assignments like operation rooms, glass cleaning or floors.

Every public space like schools, kindergardens, day-care centres and hospitals is obligated to use a colour system for separation.

A close-up photograph of a person's hand holding a white, textured paper napkin. The hand is positioned at the bottom left, with fingers gently gripping the edge of the napkin. The napkin is held up, showing its intricate, embossed pattern. The background consists of white, vertically-oriented rectangular tiles with dark grout. The lighting is soft and even, highlighting the texture of the paper and the skin of the hand. A solid pink horizontal bar is overlaid at the bottom of the image, containing the text.

Microfibre

Microfibres are very thin and soft, but even steady and tear-resistant fibres. These specifications allow an wide area of operations: microfibre textiles are suitable for wiping and polishing as well as for dedusting.

Because of the enormous fineness, that lies between 0,1 and 1,0 dtex (for comparison: the fineness of cotton fibres lays between 1,5 and 2,5 dtex), the production of microfibres ist very complicated. In simple terms, homogeneous polymeres (plastic) are melted and spinned to a fibre. The regular spinning process hast to be adjusted, because microfibres only can be produced on a very high spinning speed. This high speed results to a parallel arrangement of molecules, which guarantees robustness and tear-resistency, in spite of the fibre fineness.

10.000 metres of this thin fibre only weigh 1 gram. Microfibres are three times thinner than cotton fibres and 100 times thinner than human hair. But compared with other materials they have a higher volume. As a result microfibre mops have a good dirt absorbability due to their larger surface. The thin mesh goes even in micropores of structured surfaces and therefore remove tenacious dirt easily without being prone to fluff.

Cotton

Cotton mops are made from cotton fibres (natural fibres) that are extracted from cotton plants. Normally cotton mops consist of a mixture of cotton and polyestreto avoid shrinking during washing. The diametre of a fibre is 12-35 μm .

Compared to microfibre cotton is very absorptive and kann absorb up to 65 percent of its own weight. But the drying time is much longer than for microfibres. Cotton has a high dirt and oil capacity and escaping power. Therefore cotton mops are ideal for floor cleaning and coating.

An institution in the cleaning industry – over 90 years of tradition and experience

In 1923 Willy Oehme, Nuremberg, founded the Lorito S.A. in Vevey, Switzerland, at the Lake Geneva. At that time the range of products was limited to the Creme Lorito, a universal cleaning agent for the “housewife” to clean, polish and disinfect wood, leather, linoleum and other Types of solid surfaces. The creme is produced to this day.

In 1970 his son Otto Oehme (top right picture) took over the company that now had its place of business in Wendelstein south of Nuremberg. The newly founded Otto Oehme GmbH (a liwited company) shifted its focus to business clients and broadened its portfolio of products gradually. In 1998 the company moved to the current premises in Allersberg that house management as well as production. For better market coverage further associated companies were founded in Berlin, Brunswick, Hannover, Leipzig and Frankfurt.

To maintain the continued existence of the company Ulla Oehme and Klaus Krisch joined management in 2003. Two years later the company expanded and multiple foreign subsidiaries were founded – at the moment the Otto Oehme GmbH is represented in more than 20 countries. Large-scale consumers in Germany and the EU are supplied by the company’s own private haulage. In the meantime the range of products has been extended to additives, auxiliary equipment and machines.

In 2010 Ulla Oehme took over some company shares and is now an owner of the company as well – in the third generation by now.

Our ambition

Due to our variety of special cleaning agents and machines we offer a complete solution for cleanliness and hygiene. Our skilled consultants attend to your needs. We organize seminars for our customers, led by well-known instructors, on a regular basis.

Committed to the environment

The Otto Oehme GmbH is a member of multiple research communities and professional associations (such as IHO, IKW, VCI, FRT, ARGEB) as well as a participant in the “Environmental Pact” of Bavaria (Umweltpakt Bayern). Since 1923 all compositions of cleaning agents and care products have always been produced in-house. They are free of CFC, chlorocarbons and aromatic solvents. In order to meet our ecological and economic obligations, we use renewable raw materials wherever possible.

Furthermore, all of our cleaning agents comply with legal regulations by directive 1999/45/EC of the EU (relating to the classification, packaging and labelling of dangerous preparations), the German Detergent and Cleaning Agent Act (Wasch- and Reinigungsmittelgesetz – WRMG, 1987), the German Chemicals Act (Chemikaliengesetz – ChemG, revision 2002) and Hazardous Substances Ordinance (Gefahrstoffverordnung – GefStoffV, 2010).

That means that our products – when used properly – will not endanger the physical health of a person. The forceful legislation of the EU, particularly the Regulation on Registration, Evaluation, Authorisation and Restriction of Chemicals (REACH), that makes special demands on environmental pretection as well as health pretection, is strictly adhered to at all times.

If procurable we outrun these legal guidelines and offer our customers products with maximal environmental sustainability and user pretection. Thus, for example, we offer products following Decision 2005/344/EC by the EU, a regulation for the EU Ecolabel. For these products an environmental assessment process according to a special questionnaire is no longer necessary. Our disinfectants are listed by the Association for Applied Hygiene (Verband angewandter Hygiene – VAH, former DGHM), several sanitary cleaners are included in the RK-list.

Please get in touch with us, we gladly advise you.

QR Codes In This Catalogue

Get product information faster and more precise

QR codes ("quick response") are two-dimensional bar codes which enable quick access to the internet via a camera of a smartphone or tablet. A QR code reader installed on the device is required but you can get one on the internet for free.

Benefits of QR codes

As the name suggests the QR code directs the user straight to the product page in the Oehme Lorito download centre. There you can access and download all information on a certain product quickly and easily. On the particular product page you can find all available safety and product data sheets and a picture as well as characteristics and operating instructions.

Use of QR codes in this catalogue

A | If this has not yet been done, install a QR code reader on your smartphone or tablet. You can find app recommendations with shortlinks to download them in the infobox beneath.

QR code reader for Apple iOS:

B | Scan the QR code next to the desired product in the catalogue with the app. You are then directed to the product page in the Oehme Lorito download centre. There you can directly access and download safety and product data sheets.

C | In case of problems concerning the use of QR codes you can also open the Oehme Lorito download centre in the browser of your mobile phone or computer manually:

1. Go to <http://www.oehme-lorito.de>.
2. There is a search window on the welcome page where you need to Type in the name of the product, the number or the webcode (e.g. #2d2d)
3. Click / tap on "search"
4. Open the product page by clicking / tapping on the product name or picture.

Four-Colour-System

Mix-up impossible – one colour for each application

The well-established Four-Colour-System ensures hygiene while cleaning surfaces above the ground. The colour system allows an easy optical separation of cleaning equipment like cloths, sponges, buckets or cleaning agents. An consequent application of this colour system not only optimises hygiene, but also simplifies the cleaning management.

The system consists of four basic colours: red, yellow, blue and green, whereat each colour represents an specific application area. Thus it avoids the usage of a cloth, that has been used for the toilet before, for cleaning the desk and therefore transmitting germs to furnishings.

The following colour codes are well-established in practice:

Sanitary areas (toilet, urinal)

for sanitary areas with high bacterial contamination like toilets, urinals, bidets and its splash zones. Hygiene has the highest priority in these areas.

Sanitary areas (other areas)

for the general sanitary areas, which have a lower bacterial contamination, like sinks, mirrors, bathtubs, taps. To avoid bacterial dissemination to other, non-sanitary areas.

General cleaning

for the general cleaning of surfaces like furnishings, doors, lamps and windows in the office or lobby.

Kitchen/special assignment

for areas that encounter food like kitchens, cafeterias and recreation rooms. Also suitable for special assignments like operation rooms, glass cleaning or floors.

Every public space like schools, kindergardens, day-care centres and hospitals is obligated to use a colour system for separation.

Microfibre

Microfibres are very thin and soft, but even steady and tear-resistant fibres. These specifications allow an wide area of operations: microfibre textiles are suitable for wiping and polishing as well as for dedusting.

Because of the enormous fineness, that lies between 0,1 and 1,0 dtex (for comparison: the fineness of cotton fibres lays between 1,5 and 2,5 dtex), the production of microfibres ist very complicated. In simple terms, homogeneous polymeres (plastic) are melted and spinned to a fibre. The regular spinning process hast to be adjusted, because microfibres only can be produced on a very high spinning speed. This high speed results to a parallel arrangement of molecules, which guarantees robustness and tear-resistency, in spite of the fibre fineness.

10.000 metres of this thin fibre only weigh 1 gram. Microfibres are three times thinner than cotton fibres and 100 times thinner than human hair. But compared with other materials they have a higher volume. As a result microfibre mops have a good dirt absorbability due to their larger surface. The thin mesh goes even in micropores of structured surfaces and therefore remove tenacious dirt easily without being prone to fluff.

Cotton

Cotton mops are made from cotton fibres (natural fibres) that are extracted from cotton plants. Normally cotton mops consist of a mixture of cotton and polyestreto avoid shrinking during washing. The diametre of a fibre is 12-35 μm .

Compared to microfibre cotton is very absorptive and kann absorb up to 65 percent of its own weight. But the drying time is much longer than for microfibres. Cotton has a high dirt and oil capacity and escaping power. Therefore cotton mops are ideal for floor cleaning and coating.

Company Profile

An institution in the cleaning industry – over 90 years of tradition and experience

In 1923 Willy Oehme, Nuremberg, founded the Lorito S.A. in Vevey, Switzerland, at the Lake Geneva. At that time the range of products was limited to the Creme Lorito, a universal cleaning agent for the “housewife” to clean, polish and disinfect wood, leather, linoleum and other Types of solid surfaces. The creme is produced to this day.

In 1970 his son Otto Oehme (top right picture) took over the company that now had its place of business in Wendelstein south of Nuremberg. The newly founded Otto Oehme GmbH (a limited company) shifted its focus to business clients and broadened its portfolio of products gradually. In 1998 the company moved to the current premises in Allersberg that house management as well as production. For better market coverage further associated companies were founded in Berlin, Brunswick, Hannover, Leipzig and Frankfurt.

To maintain the continued existence of the company Ulla Oehme and Klaus Krisch joined management in 2003. Two years later the company expanded and multiple foreign subsidiaries were founded – at the moment the Otto Oehme GmbH is represented in more than 20 countries. Large-scale consumers in Germany and the EU are supplied by the company's own private haulage. In the meantime the range of products has been extended to additives, auxiliary equipment and machines.

In 2010 Ulla Oehme took over some company shares and is now an owner of the company as well – in the third generation by now.

Our ambition

Due to our variety of special cleaning agents and machines we offer a complete solution for cleanliness and hygiene. Our skilled consultants attend to your needs. We organize seminars for our customers, led by well-known instructors, on a regular basis.

Committed to the environment

The Otto Oehme GmbH is a member of multiple research communities and professional associations (such as IHO, IKW, VCI, FRT, ARGEB) as well as a participant in the “Environmental Pact” of Bavaria (Umweltpakt Bayern). Since 1923 all compositions of cleaning agents and care products have always been produced in-house. They are free of CFC, chlorocarbons and aromatic solvents. In order to meet our ecological and economic obligations, we use renewable raw materials wherever possible.

Furthermore, all of our cleaning agents comply with legal regulations by directive 1999/45/EC of the EU (relating to the classification, packaging and labelling of dangerous preparations), the German Detergent and Cleaning Agent Act (Wasch- and Reinigungsmittelgesetz – WRMG, 1987), the German Chemicals Act (Chemikaliengesetz – ChemG, revision 2002) and Hazardous Substances Ordinance (Gefahrstoffverordnung – GefStoffV, 2010).

That means that our products – when used properly – will not endanger the physical health of a person. The forceful legislation of the EU, particularly the Regulation on Registration, Evaluation, Authorisation and Restriction of Chemicals (REACH), that makes special demands on environmental protection as well as health protection, is strictly adhered to at all times.

If procurable we outrun these legal guidelines and offer our customers products with maximal environmental sustainability and user protection. Thus, for example, we offer products following Decision 2005/344/EC by the EU, a regulation for the EU Ecolabel. For these products an environmental assessment process according to a special questionnaire is no longer necessary. Our disinfectants are listed by the Association for Applied Hygiene (Verband angewandter Hygiene – VAH, former DGHM), several sanitary cleaners are included in the RK-list.

Please get in touch with us, we gladly advise you.
